WE OFFER ENGINEERED QUARTZ STONES

Engineered Quartz Stones are 93-95% natural quartz minerals processed using high quality engineered polyester resins and pigments. Natural quartz is processed with advanced processing technology that can surpass the standards of natural granite by means of hardness and many more. Quartz stone offers hardest, non-porous and virtually stains and scratch resistance surface compared to any other material used for the same purpose. Virtually maintenance free that can offer life time peace of mind against any other substitutes. It can be best used as kitchen counter top, bathroom vanity tops and so many other commercial projects such as hotels, hospitals, shopping malls and many more indoor surfaces can be installed and/or replaced using quartz stone. In short quartz stone can offer great designs like natural stone for any scale of projects with consistent quality with just in time availability.
